New Lenox Group to Work for Equality in Property Assessments

The tax assessment muddle in New Lenox township which last week saw re-publication of valuation figures to correct a clerical error in the list originally published, also has resulted in the formal organization of the New Lenox Taxpayers Equality Association.

George Vally, who served as chairman of a meeting in the New Lenox Lions Den last Friday night at which the association was organized, said that it would study the situation and would cooperate with the board of review in getting adjustments made.

He pointed out, however, that each person who took exception to the valuation placed on his property would have to file his complaint with the review body individually.

Some 200 persons attended the meeting and voted on formation of the taxpayers group. As of Monday there were 65 paid up members in the association, which has been organized on a non-profit basis, a spokesman said.

Nine directors were chosen who in turn will name a president, vice president and secretary-treasurer. The nine directors are: George Vally, Don Wennlund, George Fahrenholz, John Oster, Ronald Crisman, C. W. Batson, Edward Chesco, John B. Anderson Jr., and Ernest Hoefler.

James Davis who is in charge of the assessment division at the office of the Will county treasurer's office, addressed the meeting Friday night.

Davis was hired by Floyd Krapf, who served as county treasurer from 1954 to December 1, 1958 when he was succeeded by Roy C. Doerfler. Davis continued on the job.

Woman Hits Fire Hydrant When Car Skids on Ice

Skidding on the ice on Front street, Mokena, Monday, a car driven by Mrs. Ralph Thompson, Parker ave., slid into a fire hydrant on the north side of the thoroughfare near Division street.

Mrs. Thompson was going slow, preparatory to parking she said, but the impact was sufficient to throw her son, Richard, 6, against the windshield. He was taken to Silver Cross hospital at Joliet for an x-ray and was found to have escaped any fractures.

Mrs. Thompson's daughter, Debra, who was 4 years old Monday, suffered a cut inside her mouth. Mrs. Thompson escaped injury.

Lemont Grocery Firm Takes Over Shopping Bag

Ordman's Park and Shop Supermarket Inc., of Lemont has purchased The Shopping Bag, a Mokena supermarket on Wolf road and is now operating the business.

Abe and Ralph Ordman, brothers, head the company. The Ordman firm was started in Lemont 49 years ago.

According to a spokesman for the firm the Mokena store will also be known as Ordman's Park and Shop Supermarket, and will be operated on a basis that will best serve the needs and convenience of the people in the area.

The store will handle quality merchandise and the operators plan to expand the inventory substantially. They are now rearranging the display of merchandise.

Ralph Thoresen who was managing The Shopping Bag at the time it was sold has moved to California, with his family.

Defers Action on Bowling Lane Building Permit

No action was taken by the Mokena village board this week on the request of Jerry Nelson and Harry Fee for a liquor license for a proposed bowling alley.

There are still too many "ifs" involved, according to the board. In the first place the site of the proposed 12-lane bowling set up is outside the village.

Nelson and Fee were invited to attend the next meeting of the board if action toward annexing the property was contemplated.

A. S. Duncan, a Mokena contractor, owns the property and the adjacent parcels between it and LaPorte road, along Wolf. LaPorte road is now the south boundary of Mokena at that point. Duncan could have the property annexed by a petition carrying his signature, it was said, because he is the sole owner.

Another point to come up was that even if the property is annexed the present tavern ordinance would not permit issuance of a bar license to either Nelson or Fee because neither resides within the village boundaries. The ordinance specifically states that a licensee must be a resident of the village. They have said they wish to operate a cocktail lounge in connection with the alley.

The election schedule for the coming year was announced at the board meeting. Three trustees are to be elected in April. The three members whose terms expire are: Willard Munch, Ray Westlund and Lyman Teague.

Mayor James Marti said Tuesday night that the three men have been valuable in administering the affairs of the village and that he hoped they would seek re-election.

The first day of filing petitions will be Jan. 26 and the last day of filing is March 2. Last day for withdrawing a petition will be March 7.

If it is desired to hold a caucus it must be held before March 13.

Petitions must be filed with the village clerk, Alvin Sorensen. The election will be held April 21.

will be used as such by 1975. The report estimates that 45 percent of the 449,772 acres now listed as agricultural land will be diverted from that classification in the next 15 years. From farm land it will become subdivisions, roads and highways and business properties, it is believed.

Catch Pair Who Planned to Loot Church Poor Boxes to Buy Beer

Two Chicago men who broke into St. Michael's church, 144th and Highland sts., Orland Park, about 1 a.m. Saturday, confessed to acting police chief, Eugene Yunker, they intended to loot the church poor boxes to buy more beer.

The men, who are now in Cook County jail, are Raymond Jaeger Jr., 19, of 6744 to the chief. They ditched the gun and gave themselves up when confronted by the police men and priests.

They confessed to entering the church thru a rear window by breaking it with a jimmy, the report states.

Police discovered a car owned by Jaeger parked on West ave. In it was found a cutting

Looters Yield Gun, Jimmy
Justine st. and Frank Ufferman, 22, of 6336 S. Marshall ave. Ironically, the poor boxes were empty.

The pair was caught when the pastor, Rev. Frank Coyle and another priest spotted lights in the church auditorium and called police.

Yunker and police officer Edward Settles surprised the men who were discovered hiding behind the organ. They had a loaded 32 caliber automatic pistol with the safety in firing position, according

REDUCED TO ASHES is the fate of Christmas trees that a week ago were a major part of the holiday decorations in Frankfort homes. Disposal of evergreens can be dangerous so the Frankfort fire department solved the situation by supervising the burning of the yule trees Tuesday night in the village park. The people brought the trees to the park where they were ignited. When this picture was taken a vigorous snow storm was in progress. Some of the flakes look like baseballs.

WINTER SCENE—This picture, taken from a cross road near Frankfort shows the snow that has blanketed the area since last Saturday but not temperature. One gets an idea that it was quite cold when this was taken because the snow shows no signs of melting.

The bare patches indicating wheel marks were worn thru, not melted thru. A few more waves of sub-zero temperatures and a few more deep snows and this will go down in the annals of the region as a hard winter.

Wins $5,000

Fortune Smiles on Mokena Woman

A Mokena woman, Mrs. Albert (Marie) Kuchenbecker, of 18810 113th ave., is $5,000 richer—less taxes of course—as a result of the "electric dryer sweepstakes" sponsored by the Commonwealth Edison Public Service Co. system.

There was nothing to buy, no jingles to write or questions to answer. All one had to do to enter the affair was to place her or his name and address on an entry card available at the store of any appliance dealer, and drop it in a box.

Mrs. Kuchenbecker signed and deposited her card at the Mokena Electric Co., owned and operated by Willard Munch. The contest began Dec. 15 and ran for six weeks. One could enter as many times as he desired but Mrs. Kuchenbecker dropped in only one card and out of the some 45,000 turned in her's was the one drawn for the grand prize which was $5,000. She also received a new electric drier to replace the one she had. Driers also were awarded to weekly winners—ten of them.

When Mrs. Kuchenbecker was first informed of her good fortune she didn't believe it. Three representatives from the sponsor came to her home to tell her that she won. Thinking it was a new gimmick in sales approach she closed the door and it took considerable talking on their part for her to open it again. The check for the $5,000 was presented this week by G. K. Hardacre, division vice president. The new drier was delivered to the home.

Mrs. Kuchenbecker was thrilled. She said yesterday that most of the money would be set aside for the education of her daughters, Sharon, now a senior at Lincoln-Way and Judy, who is a freshman there.

The family has lived at Mokena for the past seven years, coming there from Chicago. Mr. Kuchenbecker is superintendent of the Asbestos Magnesia Materials Co., a firm specializing in insulation, of Chicago.

Just how much of a slice Uncle Sam will take out of her prize is a question for which Mrs. Kuchenbecker does not yet have the answer.

Funds for Firehouse

Mokena Firemen to Begin Drive

Members of the Mokena community volunteer fire department are scheduled to begin their campaign next week for funds to build an engine house.

The drive was to have begun last month but it was decided that because of the approach of the holidays it would be better to delay it until later.

Under current plans members of the department will begin a house to house canvass next Thursday, Jan. 15, and will cover the area as rapidly as possible.

Persons who do not want to give cash a jump sum may extend the payments over a three-month period.

The firemen purchased a lot on Front street, near Midland ave., about two months ago, which will be used as the site for the engine house. The building will be large enough to accommodate the department's apparatus and also provide them with an office and a meeting room.

The Mokena village hall is now serving as an engine house but it is not large enough to store the equipment.

By doing most of the work themselves on the proposed building the firemen expect to complete the structure at a cost of about $18,000.

The fire department receives no assistance thru taxes and must depend upon the generosity of the public for support. In return the public gets fire protection. The department responds to all alarms in the Mokena area. It also makes inhalator calls.

Scholarship Fund

Andrews Raises Sandburg Awards

The success of Carl Sandburg High School scholars in college has resulted in an increased grant from the Aileen S. Andrew Foundation. A graduating senior winning the 1959 award will be awarded $3,000 for four years of work rather than the previous grants of $1,000.

Established in 1954, this scholarship has been one of the most valuable. In making the announcement, President Victor J. Andrew said, "I have been quite pleased with the success of the Carl Sandburg High School scholars."

The screening of the candidates and selection of the award winner is done by a special committee. The Foundation does not participate in the selection.

Scholastic achievement and the potential of the student to utilize a university education are the major points considered in the selection of the individual for this award.

Orland Park Bus Case Encounters New Obstacles Set up by CTA

(CNS) Possible bus service from southwest and west suburbs into Chicago's Loop by Suburban Transit System, Inc. is many months away.

It's a controversial issue with three other suburban bus lines and the Chicago Transit Authority firmly opposed to the idea.

Hearings in the case began last March, were concluded in November, then reopened by the Illinois Commerce Commission to allow the CTA to introduce more evidence.

A CTA witness testified Monday that in his opinion a state law prohibits authorization of Suburban Transit's expansion plan.

State legislation establishing the CTA in 1945 gave it a 50 year exclusive franchise to local transportation within Chicago, said Merrill B. Knox, a CTA transportation consulting engineer.

The CTA envisions eventually a "unified, consolidated mass transportation system" in which suburban bus companies will act as feeders to outlying CTA terminals where passengers will transfer and ride the CTA into Chicago, Knox said.

Harold Poslusny, ICC examiner, gave the CTA until Jan. 23 to file a brief and Suburban Transit until March 1 to answer. The case was taken under advisement.

Suburban Transit wants to operate three round trips daily into the Loop from Orland Park, Palos Park, Palos Heights, Worth, Chicago Ridge, Oak Lawn, and Cicero. The route would be up Cicero avenue and over to Ogden avenue into the Loop.

The company also has opposition from Eagle Bus Line, Continental Air Transport Co., and Bluebird Coach Line.

Knox, however, urged Suburban Transit to consider expanding service to its terminal at 63rd and Halsted streets in Chicago, where the suburban riders could transfer to the CTA elevated line.

The Wabash railroad now serves the area that might be drawn to Suburban Transit's proposed Loop route, Knox said. (Continued to page 2)

Cook County Closes Deals for Additions to Forest Preserve Dist.

(CNS) Eight land condemnation cases, closed out in court before the end of 1958, almost 210 acres to forest preserve district holdings in Orland township and almost 160 acres combined in Palos, Bloom, Bremen, and Worth townships.

The largest of the eight tracts covers 101 acres on the south side of 135th street, west of Harlem, Orland township, purchased from Howard Bowyer for $147,000. The forest preserve district plans to create a lake on the property.

Another tract, adjoining the Bowyer property, was sold by Carl Schumacher. This parcel, consisting of 40.4 acres, brought $66,500.

Also purchased in Orland township is the indoor riding academy, outdoor ring, and various barns on 26.5 acres situated on the north side of 151st street, west of Harlem. The property, which was held in trust, was sold for $127,000.

5-Month Old Girl Dies Suddenly

Deborah Lynn, the five-month old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Darrough of 88th avenue, south of 191st st., Mokena, was found dead in her crib Christmas morning of suffocation.

She was one of twin daughters born prematurely Aug. 11, 1958 at Hazel Crest hospital. At birth she weighed 2 pounds 11 ounces. The other twin is named Dianne Lea.

Burial was in Salem, Ill. The father is employed in the state hospital at Tinley Park.

Occupants Suffer Cuts and Bruises In Auto Collision

Harry A. Mager, 70, of 17364 69th ave., Tinley Park was involved in a car accident in Homewood, Dec. 28, in which three persons, two of them children, were slightly injured. All were treated at St. James hospital, Chicago Heights for cuts and bruises and then released.

According to Homewood police, Mager was driving south on the inner lane of Dixie highway when he attempted a left turn into 68th place in the path of a northbound auto being driven by Erwin Bretzman, whose car reportedly skidded 54 feet in an attempt to stop before hitting the right side of the Mager auto. The injured were Lois Bretzman, 31, of Bradley, her daughter, Beth, 7, and Linda Bretzman, 10.

NEW LENOX GROUP—

ervisor of assessments, undertook to put valuations on a uniform basis in the county and to get them up to approximately 55% of the actual market value so that the state department of revenue would give Will county a multiplier of one.

An abstract of the assessments as finally determined by the board of review is sent to the state department of revenue and that agency decides what multiplier is necessary to bring the assessed valuations up to the equalized valuation, which is about 55% of the actual value. The multiplier used in Will county last year was six plus.

Krapf wanted to bring it down to one so the assessed valuation would be the equalized valuation.

Under the state law assessors are required to re-value real estate every four years. This is called quadrennial assessment. Last year was a quadrennial year in Will county.

When the assessor's books came in from New Lenox township it was found that the assessments were too low. A new assessment was ordered, directed by Davis. Also hired was Edward Chesko, a Joliet school teacher, who resides at New Lenox and is now a director of the newly formed New Lenox taxpayer's group.

Chesko was able to measure most of the property in the township and made out the cards that all assessors were supposed to use.

At the meeting Friday, Mr. Davis explained the cards and the methods of measuring and the process used in arriving at a valuation. The cards cover every conceivable type of building, the type of construction and all the details including location, unit costs, depreciation etc. The state department of revenue supplies the counties with manuals containing the formulas for arriving at a valuation.

It is practically the same method as is employed by mortgage houses and real estate men in making appraisals. Arriving thus at the full value of a piece of property, an assessor was then supposed to take 55% of the figure and set it down as the assessed valuation.

Davis went into considerable detail and when he finished the persons present indicated they were satisfied that the method was fair and just and that the treasurer's office had done a good job. They also had a better understanding of what is being done to get assessments on a more equal basis.

There has been considerable talk of late thruout the state relative to the fixing of multipliers by the revenue department. A number of legislators have expressed opposition to the system and are agitating for its repeal or, failing that, for major changes in the law.

Committee hearings on the subject are being held at Springfield and Mr. Davis has appeared at two of them to give testimony for what he believes to be a solution for the problem. He would have valuations made annually, instead of every four years. Except for new improvements or major changes in existing construction that has been measured and evaluated, valuations could be kept abreast of current construction by using percentages established by the revenue department instead of a multiplier, Davis says.

Perhaps values should be increased, to keep pace with a rising market. Davis points out, or reduced if the market tumbled. A percentage figure worked by the state could be used for either contingency, he stated.

There is no reason why taxpayers or taxing bodies should wait four years before changes are made in assessments, Davis said. It would be better if done every year and valuations thus maintained on a no plans to increase service. In view of this, Knox questioned whether there is a need for what Suburban Transit wants to do. In summation, Knox contended the Suburban Transit proposal conflicts with the franchise and long range plan of the CTA and would increase traffic congestion in Chicago.

Knox mentioned that a CTA plan, disclosed earlier, is to have electronically guided buses in a lane of the Southwest expressway, a superhighway that is said to be at least 5 to 6 years away from opening.

"If there are a thousand cases, they could be divided up and over a three year period the job could be accomplished. Then when the next quadrennial assessment was made all of the property in the township would be on an equitable basis."

Under the state law, effective this year, the board of review could impose a special multiplier on New Lenox township to bring up the total valuation to the figure it should be if it were on a 55% basis, but Chairman Baltz does not want to make use of it if it can be avoided.

"Members of the board of review are very reluctant to impose a special multiplier on New Lenox," Baltz said, "because a majority of the properties are assessed up to around the 55% valuation and it would be quite unfair to such people to invoke a multiplier that would cause them to pay far more than their share."

Mr. Baltz hoped that beginning next year a definite program for bringing New Lenox assessments up to the mark would be started. "The only way it can be done now is thru the board of review but with the other work that the board has I don't believe we could process more than 300 cases a year in New Lenox. There would have to be a hearing in each case where an adjustment was made."

The board of review will hear complaints from New Lenox on the current assessments up to Jan. 28.

Dead Sea Scrolls Not a Challenge to Christianity

By DR. E. H. PETERS
Wayne State Univ., Detroit
(Paulist Feature Service)

Ten years ago, the two Arab boys in search of a stray goat, entered a cave on the western shore of the Dead Sea and found several old clay jars. The contents of these jars caused some people to trumpet the end of Christianity.

"The Dead Sea scrolls offer a strong challenge to the Christian faith." "They prove Christianity is nothing more than offshoot of a Jewish sect called the Essenes." These and other equally frightening statements are causing people to ask, "Just what is the story behind the Dead Sea Scrolls?"

The large jars found in the cave contained scrolls which date back to the first century B. C. After all kinds of tests, scholars have verified the age of these manuscripts and removed all possibility of a hoax.

The scrolls make up a whole library including parts of nearly every book of the Old Testament. Among them is a complete copy of the Book of Isaiah. This document is about 1000 years older than any Hebrew copy of the Bible which he had until now.

The books were the property of a Jewish religious party, active at the time of Christ called the Essenes. One of the documents sets out the doctrines of this group. Several of their practices and teachings

FARM NEWS

For Cook County by W.F. Whiteside

Assistant farm adviser
Farmers are big buyers — agriculture is a forty billion dollar customer for industry, labor and finance. Agriculture buys more petroleum than any other industry.

Farmers take six and a half million tons of finished steel and enough raw rubber to put tires on six million cars a year. Sixteen percent of gross freight rates are for agricultural products. Agriculture uses fifty million tons of chemicals annually and more electricity power than Chicago, Detroit, Houston, Baltimore and Boston combined.

Yes, farmers are good customers and big buyers and users of products.

VEGETABLE GROWERS SCHOOL

The annual Vegetable Grower's school, sponsored by the Extension Service, Farm Bureau and Truck Gardeners Association, will be held Wednesday, Jan. 14th at the village hall in South Holland, 16154 South Park ave. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. Some of the subjects to be discussed are: New control measures for onion set maggots, diseases of onion sets, chemical weed control in vegetable crops, sweet corn varieties, and other subjects of interest to the vegetable grower.

There will also be time for a question and answer period so that all your questions will be considered.

This should be a worthwhile and educational meeting for Vegetable Growers. We hope that all interested growers will plan to attend.

Speakers include men from the horticulture department, University of Illinois and Purdue, and research workers from the Horticulture Experiment Station at Downers Grove.

Two new corn hybrids, Ill. 6021 (R75xR76), (R84xK4), and Ill. 6052 (R78x38-11) (R84xK4), have been developed in the Agronomy Department of the University of Illinois. Foundation single-cross seed of these two hybrids is available to seedsmen interested in producing seed in 1959. Sufficient double-cross seed for farm use will be available for the 1960 growing season. These new hybrids yield about 30 percent more oil and 10 percent more protein than present commercial hybrids. In addition, they are similar to standard hybrids in grain yield, standability, and other agronomic traits. Nationwide use of adapted high-oil hybrids would produce almost as much oil as is now obtained from butterfat, soybeans, cotton and flax.

What Is The Largest "Farm Group" In Illinois?
123,000 Farm Families That Regularly Save Trading Stamps Are The Biggest "Farm Group" In Illinois.

America's farm families are traditionally thrifty. The same pattern of thrift is found in Illinois. It is only natural, therefore, that the response of Illinois farm families to one of the oldest forms of thrift—the trading stamp—is so noticeable.

Today over 123,000 farm families save them. You might almost say that these savers constitute the largest single farm group in the state.

During 1957 alone, thousands of dollars worth of trading stamp merchandise went into farm households in the state, and every 2 seconds a farm family is redeeming trading stamps. There is still another side—direct income for farmers. During 1957 the stamp industry purchased from Illinois farmers $2,766,000 worth of primary materials that go into the manufacture of merchandise for stamp redemption.

No one can contemplate these facts and fail to realize that both personally and economically the trading stamp industry is a meaningful and welcome force in the life of our state.

Silver Cross Nursing School Receives National Accreditation

Silver Cross hospital school of nursing, Joliet, has received full accreditation from the National League of Nursing, having been one of the schools granted "temporary" accreditation when the national accrediting program was launched five years ago. Many improvements in the curriculum and facilities, as suggested by the League, were made in the interim, and a week long survey of the school was made by its representatives last fall.

In granting the accreditation the Board of Review of Diploma programs commended the Silver Cross faculty and all those responsible for the school for their efforts in bringing about the improvements in the program.

The school of nursing was established by Silver Cross hospital when it opened in 1895. In 1917 the school became fully accredited by the Illinois department of registration and education, and its graduates are qualified to take examinations for registration and if successful write "R.N." after their names.

During their first year Silver Cross students attend Joliet Junior college for science courses while attending classes and beginning nursing experience under supervision at Silver Cross hospital. At mid-year, if they pass examinations, they receive their nursing caps at a capping ceremony to be held this year on Feb. 20. The next pre-entrance test will be held at the school on Feb. 7.

It's fun to make these decorations to display outdoors and more fun to see more and more of our neighbors participating in these out-door displays, it sure helps to bring the holiday spirit into the neighborhood.

I'm sure with the Garden club and the T. P. Chamber of Commerce holding these contests will help out immensely in having more of our neighbors display out-door Christmas decorations.

In closing, I would again, in behalf of my wife and children (who helped make all this possible) thank all who were responsible for the contest for the prize we received.

Wishing you all a happy, prosperous and bright new year.

High School Girls to Compete in Penny Flame Pie Baking Contest

High school winners will compete Monday evening, January 12, in the "Joliet District" Penny Flame cherry pie baking contest sponsored by Northern Illinois Gas Company, it was announced by Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, local home service advisor for the utility.

Each high school served by Northern Illinois Gas in western Will County and Lemont is eligible to enter its school baking champion, Mrs. Wilson said. There were no entries from Lincoln-Way, Sandburg and Bremen high schools are in a different division.

Judging the district contest will be Mrs. Lee Morris, home economist at Hufford Junior High school, Joliet; Mrs. Betty Shinn, Will County home economist; and Miss Judith Wheeler, society editor of the Joliet Spectator.

The district contest, to be held from 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. next Monday at the Northern Illinois Gas store at 63 North Chicago street, Joliet, offers each of its two winners a trophy and an opportunity to compete at division level.

Two winners in each of Northern Illinois Gas' five divisions in its 20 county northern Illinois service territory will receive all expense paid week ends and a chance for the grand prize, a $400 scholarship.

The "Penny Flame Cherry Pie Baking Queen" will be chosen February 21.

Mrs. Wilson said the public is invited to all levels of the competition.

To be safe after dark, warns the Motor Club, motorists should not overdrive their lights. A car traveling 45 miles an hour will progress several hundred feet before its driver can distinguish danger in the road ahead.

D-Day for Bremen and Sandburg Fives

Friday is D-Day. Yes, Destiny day for the Redman and the resurgent Eagle of Sandburg.

Will Bremen be able to stop Rich?

Can Sandburg beat top flight opposition?

These and other questions will be answered on Friday evening, at a Bremen High school in Midlothian and at Oak Lawn.

Carl Sandburg is currently flying in third place in the Conference—much to the surprise of head coach Bill Adams. Adams didn't really expect his lads to bring home more than one victory to Oak Lawn this winter.

Bremen, highly regarded at the season's opening, has dropped to fifth place in the loop tabulations. However, the Braves have met the contenders of the SW Suburban conference; with exception of Rich—current leader, and have dropped three heart-breaking decisions.

One night it is Lin Mautz good for 30 points, the next evening Don

Do the Braves have one good game in the system that they can force out this January 9? Psychologically they are on the proverbial deck. Three straight defeats in league competition has taken the starch out of the Bremen offense.

According to rumor, Coach Bill Brown of the Braves is contemplating moving up John Ragsdale and Rich Norbut of the great frosh-soph aggregate to bolster the sagging varsity and for experience. Maybe he has reached the point where he feels that building for next year is all that is left.

Brown hasn't conceded to Rich. Reports indicate that Rich isn't taking Bremen as another easy contest.

If Bremen loses to Rich its mark will be 1-4. If the Redmen beat Rich it will mean a mark of 2-3, added confidence and spirit. From here the Braves could really move. How ever don't look for this to happen.

If Jim Manniaoni, Bob Rodger, Jim Mifflin, and Jerome Randle El can get together—things will be tough on Rich. But these four great shots have never been able to play a game where talents have been well combined.

It will be a great game! If the Braves jell—it will be a championship style game. If...

Destiny Day will probably be Domesday to the Bremen hopes for the 1959 Conference crown.

Bill Adams, mentor of Sandburg, the league's number three team, finds the altitude pleasurable—even if not expected.

The Eagles tangle with second place Oak Lawn at Oak Lawn on Friday evening. Oak Lawn, with large Hank DeVries, has yet to lose in SW Suburban play. They have taken Bremen, Evergreen Park, and Lincoln-Way.

Hank DeVries will have to be stopped and it is doubtful if Adams short men can accomplish this feat. For Hank has proved tougher to stop with each successive win by Oak Lawn.

Sandburg has clicked well in its three conference games. Rich didn't destroy the Yellow and Blue. Lincoln-Way and Reavis didn't prove much of a puzzle for the Orland Park five.

Oak Lawn will prove the position of Sandburg. If the Eagles can defeat the men from Oak Lawn—a second place finish is quite possible, but Adams just doesn't have the horses to do this thing. Three upsets in three games is a real job to pull.

Don Arnold has been the only consistent scorer for Sandburg and he has a weakness on which a big man like DeVries should be able to capitalize. Don always goes to the same side on his drive shot.

At times Jerry McBride looks like he might make a one-two punch, but then at other times he proves that he isn't that good. If he is on—look out Oak Lawn.

Past records prove something; that Sandburg has a 50-50 chance to win. Oak Law dropped a thriller in Argo in the early season and the Eagles bounced the Argo club on Saturday evening, 47-41, at Argo. That was a good win.

Coach Bill Adams was pleased with the win. "It's always good when you win," he commented. "The boys have stiffened on their defense."

"How about next week," he was asked. "You mean Friday? That is a different story. Oak Lawn improves with each game... I believe we have, but not as much as Walton's boys. It will be a tough game and we will be in it."

Adams is not unhappy that his men are proving him to be a poor prophet.

Sandburg is a more probable winner than Bremen on Friday evening.

In the other SW Suburban contest Reavis takes on Evergreen Park in the battle for fourth place. Both teams have a mark of 1-2.

Evergreen boasts the best offense in the league and on the other side the worst defense. Reavis has been up and down. The Rams beat Bremen last to Sandburg and played a close game with Rich. Reavis might win it in a real high scoring game.

FRIDAY'S SCHEDULE:

Carl Sandburg at Oak Lawn
Rich at Bremen
Evergreen Park at Reavis
Standings of the Teams:
Rich	4 0
Oak Lawn	3 0

Bettenhausen Story

Disappointment of 1941

BY DEAN DALLAS, Sports Editor

Big car racing was different for Tony Bettenhausen.

In Midget Racing he was a slow comer; then a great driver in a few years.

Late in April of 1941, Tony drove to Dayton, O., for his first ride in a "National" type fied for third starting position in his first National Championship race.

This was on a dirt track. For the first 68 miles he was driving in second place.

Then, the usual happened; the foot throttle fell off and had to be repaired. With a daring,

Standings of the Clubs:

Methodist	7 0
St. George	4 2
Nazarene	3 4
Trinity Lutheran	2 4
Zion Lutheran	0 6

The Methodists rolled up their seventh consecutive victory of the season in an easy basketball game over the Nazarene church team, 70-40.

For the first few minutes of the game it appeared to be a contest with the Methodists moving to the front in a 17-11 spurt. However, by the end of the first quarter the score had mounted to 21-11.

From there the Methodists continued piling up points to hold a 37-15 lead. At the half The Nazarenes scored only four while the Methodist netted 17 in the second period. Donkey King, Nazarenes star guard, out of the game with the flu, was sorely missed in this contest.

The second half of the game proved to be a little more exciting as the Methodist mixed that portion of the game with some reserves. The third quarter was an 11-11 tie. The final quarter proved to be a 20-14 verdict for the victors.

It looks like the Methodists could go unbeaten in the league for this season. The superior height and weight is something which the other teams in the league have been unable to overcome.

A team will have to be mighty high to stop the Methodists in this campaign. Don't look for this to happen.

In the battle for the basement, Trinity Lutheran easily disposed of Zion Lutheran, 55-33.

The Lutheran's from 159th street, with good play making by Coach Meier, built their lead quarter by quarter—winning the first heat, 13-6, the second, 10-8, the third 12-8 and the final, 18-11. Certainly it was Meier who steadied the tall boys from the "hill."

Zion made its bid in the second quarter, when Tom Propp and Wally Eggert did all the scoring. These fellows were good for 29 of their teams total, 33 points.

After the second quarter it became a matter of how many points Trinity would win by. With the addition of Meier to the team—the Trinity outfit should win more games than they have to date. Its two wins have come at the expense of Zion. Other teams had better pay close attention.

Hogue, Bormet and company are tall, strong and aggressive. The only thing lacking in their attack was a man to control and steady the sometimes ragged play. Meier appears to fill the bill—at least he did against Zion.

Wes Landau of the Methodists, leading scorer in the league, added 19 points to his season's total as top scorer in the evening's lid lifter. His running mate Elmer Gintler was good for seven baskets and two fouls for 16. Bob Culp was high for 13 points.

Hogue of Trinity was leading scorer, his name is a new one to these circles, with 20 points. Tom Propp, probably Zion's best outside shot, was good for more than half his teams points with 18.

Next week the Methodists should easily take Zion Lutheran into camp for its eighth straight victory. A revitalized Trinity Lutheran could easily upset the second place Catholics and Ron Gallina. This will definitely be the game to watch next week. The Nazarenes draw a bye in the schedule.

Schedule for next week:

Tuesday, January 13—

7:00 p.m., Methodists vs. Zion.

8:30 p.m., Trinity vs. St. George.

Sandburg Quintet Springs Surprise Upset Over Argo 47-41

Sport Sandburg pulls real

Hey, that Eagle is flying! Maybe, Coach Bill Adams wishful thinking of the early season is going to be a reality.

Adams talked of this crowd and its frosh-soph record. He said that the team lost their first three games by large margins and then proved it to be a winning ball team.

Last Saturday evening the Sandburg team evened its season mark at 4 and 4, after an horrendous start of 0-3.

This is what you call a comeback!

Argo didn't give the Orland Park team much competition until the final quarter.

Playing a deliberate, control type game the Eagles scored 12 points in each of the first three periods, while holding the high jumping men from Argo to 26. The final score was, 47-41. Low scoring for this day and age.

Coach Adams was happy with his defense. "We are developing a defense to contain the opposition. This we must do for my team hasn't scored even 60 points in a game this season," explained the Sandburg coach.

"I was happy with our play. Our shooting has perked up... somewhat, but I think that the defense was the key to our win."

Don Arnold netted 17 points for the evening. Sandburg's top scorer was consistent from around the free throw line. He totaled 6 baskets and marked the book on 5 of 8 charity tosses. Jerry McBride, drove to 5 baskets and scored on only 3 for 7 attempts from the free throw line. McBride had 13.

Bob Williams of Argo tied Arnold for top scoring honors in the evening with 17.

Will and Milt Parker, the tall Negro boys of Argo, caused the Eagles no end of trouble. "Why those boys jump three feet off the floor," moaned coach Adams. "If they could shoot like they jump—Argo would be state champs."

Sandburg's shooting percentage which had dropped to 20 against Hammond Clark of Hammond, Indiana was up over the 30 mark against Argo.

The Sandburg frosh-soph team defeated the Argo youngsters 39-33. It took a good second half spurt by the small Eagle to bring home the victory.

LINEUPS:

SANDBURG (47): Schneider 4-1-3; Erickson 2-0-4; Arnold 6-5-17; Barry 2-0-4; McBride 5-3-13.

Rich Unruffled By Beating From State's No. 1 Five

Though losing to Galesburg 72-59, Rich proved itself a basketball power to reckon with in these parts and for this season. In fact, it was a rally against the state's number one rated team that made the game relatively close.

Rich is improving with each game. Thornton, highly regarded by most experts, had trouble, and plenty of it, in downing the high flying Rocket by just six points.

Burkhardt will have the men from Park Forest running at Midlothian on Friday evening. But Bremen should not pose too much of a stumbling block to the Rich attack, and drive for sixth SW title.

Rich has fared better than some of the higher rated teams in the state against the Galesburg five.

If Rich lives up to its appearances it could sail thru its SW conference schedule unbeaten and regain the championship won last year by Bremen.

Bremen Swimmers hit 500 Mark in Two Meets

The aqua Braves are proving themselves a match for the old-line-men-of-the-sea in posting a one-match-win and a one-match-loss under the tutelage of Coach John Rusk.

In the season's opener at Midlothian the Bremen swimmers dropped the contest to Argo, December 11. A week later Thornton Fractional, a veteran school, was beaten by the swimming Braves.

Six future meets are slated for the rookie swimmers. Remainder of the schedule: January 16 Thornton Township at Harvey; 19 Bloom at Midlothian; 27 Argo at Argo; February 5 Thornton Fractional at Harvey; 9 Thornton Township at Midlothian; 16 Bloom at Chicago Heights.

Coach John Rusk is no novice to swimming. The Bremen mentor must rank with some of the best in the swimming circuit. He is an excellent swimmer himself and appears able to communicate some workable knowledge to his young men.

A tremendous interest has been demonstrated in swimming at Bremen. It has become one of the new sports that has really caught on.

Soon, there will be evening classes for men and women to improve or learn to swim at the Bremen High school.

Teepee chief, Rusk, is exuberant over his teams showing to date. "We are so well pleased that our season is already a big success."

"We have split in our first two meets and the one we lost was real close."

"In these meets we gave away experience and everything else. One just doesn't beat this kind of thing in swimming. But my boys have beaten it and we are going to win some more. You can count on that."

"Our meet with Bloom on January 19 will probably be a loss, however, I haven't seen them so one never knows."

Charley Smith, a senior and the Bremen sprint swimmer, has recorded wins in the 50 and 100 yard free style swimming over Argo, but lost a photo finish to Thornton Fractional on a poor start.

Paul Schuetz, a 100-yard back stroker, is the prize of the Redmen. Schuetz hasn't yet reached his peak and is a good chance to reach the state meets in the late spring. Coach Rusk is high on Paul.

Bob Giden is the man, "who improves tremendously every single week," enthused Rusk. He swims in the 100-yard breast stroke.

Larry Rosenquist is the long distance man, and a good one. Larry won easily in the Argo meet, but lost a thriller to Fractional. His distance is 200-yard free style.

Steve Hinger is the ace diver. He has recorded wins in both of the early season meets.

Much should be heard from the "green" Redmen from Midlothian.

Lake Park Beats L-W in Second half Surge 51-42

The Lancers were too much for the Knights.

When a Knight is down he is not coming up. Ask the Lincoln-Way basketball team.

The Lake Park Lancers defeated a fighting Lincoln-Way outfit, 51-42, on a strong second half surge. Actually, it was the third period that pinned the defeat on Kruzich's men.

Kruzich is still mulling about the shooting collapse of his team. "We shoot about 35 to 40 percent during the first six games then we drop below 20. It is unbelievable," bemoaned the mentor.

"Was it the glass bank-boards? I guess every team would have that trouble! I don't know. I just don't know what happened to the boys shooting. Our problem in the past had been getting the shots and not making them. Now we get 60 and 70 shots in a game and make 10 or 12."

"Our plans for this week are going to be different."

Lincoln-Way was in the first tournament in the school's history and had an opportunity to return with a trophy in the first effort. That was the third place trophy. It didn't happen.

In the first quarter the L-W men could not net one field goal. Eight of the nine foul shots were the total for that period. Lake Park scored only two baskets and led, 11-8.

"Skip" Kruzich nudged in two baskets and the L-Way squad tied up the score at the half-time.

Chuck Reeves of Lake Park stole the ball three straight times and netted three straight baskets in a pressing defense. The Knights were now down by 10 points. Kruzich scored all of the L-Way points with three baskets in the third half.

The final quarter was a nip and tuck affair. Lake Park took it 16-15. L-Way was able to muster just five field goals.

In the entire contest the Knights hit on only 12 field goals. It was a season low for them.

"Skip" Kruzich was the top point getter for Lincoln-Way with 18 points. He was the only one able to hit consistently through out the tournament. This gave him a total of 50 points for the tourney.

Ed Robinson was the lance in the flesh for Lincoln-Way. Robinson was good for 19 points. Other than Reeves' three crucial baskets, Robinson was the man that L-Way couldn't stop.

Even the passing, which is normally quite good, was off the usual game for Lincoln-Way.

Knights Win First Tilt Of Season

In a brilliant third quarter, the Lincoln-Way Knights defeated Lemont for the first victory of the season and a place in the consolation finals of the Naperville Holiday basketball tournament.

Lincoln-Way beat Lemont, 62-50.

Larry Iwema had the best day of his high school career as he fired 28 points through the net. Iwema was hitting on a one-hand push shot from about 20-feet out and then he was driving inside the forward for the other baskets. The Lincoln-Way junior, certainly, made the scoring difference in this game.

This victory followed a defeat to Hinckley Big Rock in the tournament opener on New Year's Day. As in the final loss to Lake Park, the shooting of Lincoln-Way was below the 20% figure. That isn't enough to win.

Hinckley defeated the Knights, 51-44.

Lemont sped away to a 16-13 lead in the first quarter and added to it by the half, 29-24.

For the only time in the tournament, Kruzich's cagers broke loose. They controlled the rebounds, they passed with accuracy, and then they hit net with regularity as they piled up a convincing, 28-9, third quarter win.

The anti-climax of the final period kept the score down to 62-50.

It was the first victory of the season and a great one.

L-Way's shooting percentage was nearly 40%. This was a decided improvement over the previous evening's loss.

Coch Kruzich claimed.

"This is the type of game that my boys should be playing. Yet, they didn't look as good as they did against Peotone, Plainfield, or Bremen."

"If we had looked nearly as good as we did against any of the three mentioned teams we would have chased Hinckley off the floor."

"Lemont was a team of individuals. Our team didn't blow the easy close-up shot. Well, we looked like a team that afternoon. After this game I was sure that we would take Lake Park the next day."

Browsing Through The Cold Stove League

Many doubters, yours truly, concerning the probable altitude of the Rich Township Rocket have been converted during the holiday tournaments. The Rocket is more than off the pad—it is rising fast.

West Rockford, a state basketball power, had a difficult time proving itself a gravity force—strong enough to halt the surging rocket. East Rockford was no pull at all.

Rock Falls, last year's state champion runner-up to Marshall High, had a difficult time subduing Downers Grove in the DeKalb Holiday Tournament. The Rocket was just nicked by the Grovers on foreign playing grounds.

Rich is not a state champion, but it could rocket to the top of the section—in spite of Thornton and its great potential.

Lincoln-Way High school failed to win the consolation section of the first tournament the school has participated in with an horrendous exhibition of inapt shooting. The shooting of the Knights was well below the 20% mark.

"Skip" Kruzich kept his 40% shooting average intact as he hit 7 of 15 shots in the consolation game with Lake Park in the Naperville tournament.

Coch Kruzich used many sophomores in the tournament and they showed some promise of better things to come.

This was a good idea! It did not bring a trophy for the New Lenox school, but it did give valuable experience to "kids" who have only watched varsity games.

Defense has been a strong point of the L-W outfit all season. Kruzich seems to be able to stop the opposition. Hinckley-Big Rock was limited to 50 points in the first game. Lemont could score just 50 in the second game. Lake Park reached 50 in the final seconds of the game Saturday evening. Not bad, eh?

With any kind of shooting the L-W team will pull some surprises this year. They consistently were getting two shots to everyone that the opposition took in the tournament, but failed to click on the close up shots. Young Kruzich proved to be the only consistent scorer on the team.

Dave McGuire, former Lincoln-Way wrestler, number three in the 147-pound class for the state of Illinois last year, is wrestling on the varsity of the Illinois Institute of Technology as a frosh. His record to date is 2 wins and 2 losses.

Elwood Zitter, 115 pound wrestler of the 1957-58 L-W wrestling team, has won a varsity position in that class. He is a student at Illinois Southern University at Carbondale.

This speaks well for the coaching of Mr. Larson of Lincoln-Way.

The game of the week should be the Rich-Bremen contest. After Saturday evening's performance, against Galesburg—rated number 1 in the state, by Rich it doesn't appear that Bremen will provide much competition for the Park Forest outfit.

Officiating at the Naperville Tournament was certainly on the poor side. There were not enough fouls and then there were too many fouls. No sour grapes because L-W lost, officiating in every game was rather poor. It destroyed much of the spectator interest.

SW Suburban gets back in action this week. Bremen and Sandburg will drop one notch lower in the standings. L-W is idle but should win its second game of the season on Friday at New Lenox. Ragsdale and Norbut will not help the Redmen of Bremen this weekend—that is if they are brought up to the varsity as has been suggested by the Heights Star. Wins will be hard to come by this winter. Cheerio!

Sandburg and Knights Tangle on Mats!

Lincoln-Way's Knights, fresh from two wins in its last three wrestling engagements, travel to Orland Park on Friday evening to take on the powerful Sandburg Eagles, who, however dropped a contest recently to Reavis, 30-13.

Coch Joe DeVine is much worried about the outcome of the match between the two SW Suburban schools. "Lincoln-Way could and might beat us on Friday evening. One of my best wrestlers, Gorman, has been dropped from the squad, that means I lose more points. One can only give away so many points and expect to win."

103-pounds will be Swinson for L-W. Cooper is at the 112 pound. Zitter, strong wrestler is 120. Turney sophomore who gave Kent of Bremen trouble, is 127. Hammond will be L-W's 133 pounder. Segvich is 138 entry. Rogers might surprise Chatlosh in the 145-pound class. Zelko may not have an opponent in the 154. Charvat is 165. Emmett should not be too hard for Jacklich at 175 mark. The Smith-Heiy match could well be the best one of the evening.

Sandburg brings the best season's mark into the contest, but don't be surprised at a big upset by the Lincoln-Way team.

W. Chicago at New Lenox on Saturday for Wrestling Meet

On Saturday morning at 10 a.m. the West Chicago High School team will be at Lincoln Way for its annual wrestling match.

Lincoln-Way has consistently beaten the boys from West Chicago and Coach Ron Larsen doesn't expect to see a reversal of form for this wrestling contest.

"We expect to beat West Chicago. We hope the fans will be here to see us win."

High school wrestling is becoming a good spectator sport, but the New Lenox school hasn't been drawing much of a crowd. However, things may be different, since they have recorded wins over Downers Grove and Kankakee.

There is a good possibility that they will win the match with Sandburg on Friday evening.

Ken Zitter, captain of the squad, is a lad to be watched. Zitter wrestles in the 120-pound division.

Ed Smith, heavyweight wrestler, improves with every match, according to coach Larsen. Smith is expected to show much over the course of the season and in the SW Suburban tournament coming up in February.

Tony Santerelli, replacing Cooper, in the 112 pound class has notched consecutive wins. One by a pin and the other by an 8-7 decision.

Vince Miller will probably wrestle instead of the sophomore Turney, who gave Kent of Bremen trouble, in the 127-pound class. Nothing is too definite here. But in any case a very strong wrestler will be seen in action.

Probable lineup for Lincoln-Way:

95, Cheatwood; 103, Swinson; 112, Santerelli; 120, Zitter; 127, Miller; 133, Segvich; 138, Dankers; 145, Rogers; 154, Zelko; 165, Charvat; 175, Emmett, heavyweight Smith.

West Chicago entries:

95, Hinds; 103, Newman; 112, Madison; 120, Newmeister; 127, Mertis; 133, Bayer; 138, Thruston; 145, Flower; 154, Harper; 165, Bell; 175, Vedler; heavy, Holt.

Lincoln-way Host to Lemont Saturday Evening

Coch Joe Kruzich's Lincoln-Way team meets the only team that they have been able to beat in this basketball season, at home, on Friday evening at 8:00 p.m.

In the Naperville Holiday Tournament the Knights defeated Lemont, 62-50.

Coch Kruzich is looking for the second victory of the season in the first encounter of the week-end.

Larry Iwema found the defenses of Lemont vulnerable as he netted 28 points against them.

Can Larry do it again?

"Practice is light for this week at New Lenox," reported Kruzich. "Maybe, the players are a little tired and thus beyond the best playing edge. At least we hope to find out by trying this for a while."

Saturday evening the Knights travel to Peotone for a return engagement with a team that edged them by three points here at New Lenox.

"If we play like we have been," lamented Kruzich. "Peotone will make short work of us. In fact it might be as bad as 20 points."

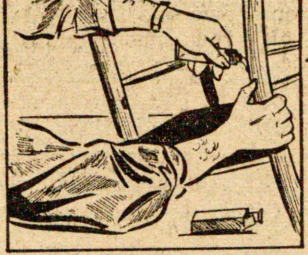

vides severe penalties for failure to comply with the reporting requirement.

Coch Ron Larsen of Lincoln-Way expects his gappers to be ready for the Sandburg crew. My heavyweight, Ed Smith, has a good 50-50 chance of stopping Fred Heiy, consistent winner of Sandburg. We are going to give the highly rated Eagles plenty of trouble."

there has been increasing interest in the use of animal repellents and there are now several available which will repel rabbits. The commercial preparations such as Ringwood Repellent, are very effective and can be used on any dormant wood. They cannot be used on evergreens.

There are two preparations which can be mixed at home from materials available at garden supply stores and which can be used on dormant and evergreen plants alike. The formulations are as follows:

1. Mix thoroly one gallon

Rophex, 4 pounds Arasan and dilute with 2 1/2 gallons of water.

2. Mix one gallon asphalt water emulsion and one gallon of water. Stir in thoroly 4 pounds of Arasan.

These materials can be sprayed on the plant from any tank sprayer or may be applied with a paint brush. If a sprayer is used, be sure to run the material thru a fine mesh screen before putting it into the sprayer.

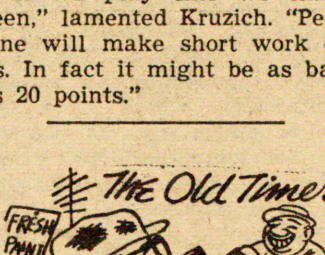

Caution: Arasan is caustic and should be handled with care. Avoid breathing the dust and immediately wash it from hands.

Aliens Must List Addresses For Government

Aliens in the United States must report their addresses to the U. S. Attorney General's office this month, it has been announced by Robert H. Robinson, director of the immigration and naturalization service.

All aliens, with a few exceptions, who are in the United States on January 1, each year must report their address by the end of that month. Only the following classes of aliens are excused from this requirement: (1) Accredited diplomats; (2) persons accredited to certain international organizations; and (3) those admitted temporarily as agricultural laborers.

Forms with which to make the report can be obtained from any post office or immigration office during the month of January. Mr. Robinson said that the law pro-

Tells How to Protect Shrubs Against Rabbits

BY JAMES FIZZELL Assistant Farm Adviser

Rabbits cause serious damage to trees and shrubs by nipping off shoots, branches, leaves and buds and by gnawing and peeling off bark.

They feed on these materials, but often remove parts of trees or shrubs without eating them.

One rabbit can ruin a home planting during a winter. Damage is most likely to be severe when forage for rabbits is scarce, in late fall, and during winters when there is a deep snow cover. Wherever rabbits are numerous, protection against them is necessary in order to establish landscaping plantings.

There are several effective methods of protecting plants from rabbits. The most common method is to place chicken wire fences around each plant. These fences should be larger in diameter than the spread of the lowest branches of the plants, fastened to the ground, and should be securely fastened so that they will stand up over deep snow. In the past several years, there has been increasing interest in the use of animal repellents and there are now several available which will repel rabbits. The commercial preparations such as Ringwood Repellent, are very effective and can be used on any dormant wood. They cannot be used on evergreens.

There are two preparations which can be mixed at home from materials available at garden supply stores and which can be used on dormant and evergreen plants alike. The formulations are as follows:

1. Mix thoroly one gallon

Rophex, 4 pounds Arasan and dilute with 2 1/2 gallons of water.

2. Mix one gallon asphalt water emulsion and one gallon of water. Stir in thoroly 4 pounds of Arasan.

These materials can be sprayed on the plant from any tank sprayer or may be applied with a paint brush. If a sprayer is used, be sure to run the material thru a fine mesh screen before putting it into the sprayer.

Caution: Arasan is caustic and should be handled with care. Avoid breathing the dust and immediately wash it from hands.

Counterfeiting - and Counterfeiters

JOHN W. ALLEN
(So. Ill. Univ.)

Among some change received while Christmas shopping there was an offcolor coin that casual inspection revealed was counterfeit. Not wishing to spend Christmas in jail for knowingly having or passing the coin, it was thrown away--after all, it was only two bits. Its finding, however, did suggest something about the story of counterfeiting, once quite a fad in southern Illinois.

These early money producers made both bank notes and coins. The metal they used was mostly lead, tin, pewter some other comparatively cheap and easily melted metal. After all, much of their possible profits lay in cheapness of their output. They often coated their coins to make them look like the silver or gold they were supposed to be.

Coins were cast in simple split molds that often did not match too accurately. The product was crude, but so was that coined by the national mint. It also should be remembered that the mintage these men offered was moulded and not stamped out by powerful precision presses as is now done. After the molten metal had been poured into the mold and briefly cooled the mold was opened and the coin removed. The projection where the metal had been poured was then broken or cut away, the place filed smooth and another bit of money was ready for circulation.

Counterfeiters naturally do not leave their equipment and apparatus lying about. It seems to disappear with them. Nevertheless, there are records of a few finds here. For instance, Matthew Saucier, while hunting near Prairie du Rocher in September 1836 found a box and mold and made affidavit to that effect. These were found "near Mr. Foster's residence" and "further the deponent sayeth not." This was inserted among the advertisements but later papers do not indicate that anyone came to claim them.

Tho it is known that the cave at Cave-in-Rock was a rendezvous for those dealing in spurious money, only two or three bits of their apparatus have been found in the area. Many believe that their actual counterfeiting was done elsewhere and the product brought here for distribution; a kind of banking center.

The first person who operated on a large scale at Cave-in-Rock was a man named Duff, who was so thoughtless that he didn't leave his first name. Some have him as the man of that name who guided for George Rogers Clark on his march to capture Kaskaskia in early 1778. To others he was a different individual who at times bore the name of Sturdevant and who had an established blockhouse where the municipal water plant of Rosiclare now stands.

The escapades and escapes of Duff were many and varied. Always he appears to have been masterful and clever. The manner of his ending is not definitely known. The general belief is that he was killed at one of the three "caves" beside the Saline River a short way below Island Ripple. One legend has him killed by a Canadian and three Indians hired for the job. Another tells that he was shot by a posse sent to arrest him. He, supposedly, was buried near the old salt spring.

Another noted operator was Philip Alston who learned his trade in South Carolina. Alston was a broadcloth, ruffler shirt gentleman, a dandy who was most gracious to women and condescending to men. His stay at the cave seems to have been a short but merry one. He, along with Duff-Sturdevant, is listed as a skilled engraver.

Since success yielded larger profits, these men who could engrave well turned their efforts more toward imitating bank notes. Banks then issued their own notes, hence samples to copy were not hard to find. When none suited these copyers they simply created their own banks. One bank in Indiana, "the capital stock of which consists of the skins of the various animals of that country", offered certain difficulties. Counterfeiting continued a great trade along the Ohio in Illinois until the operations were driven out by the armed band known as the Regulators in the 1830s.

Expulsion of the organized counterfeiters did not entirely end the practice in the region. This is shown by court records. Those of Massac county afford an example. The court records of that county for 1844-1846 show that thirteen men were charged with the crime. At least one, Angue McGee, was sentenced to the penitentiary and three years of hard labor, excepting the last day which was to be spent in solitary confinement.

McGee's three years at hard labor was mild beside that dealt in other places. Two dollar bill printed by the colony of Maryland and found in Makanda a few years ago carried across its face the stern warning, "It Is Death To Counterfeit."

Civic Organization Sponsoring Dance to Benefit Youth Center

Laguna Woods

By MRS. ROBERT ANDERSON
Fieldbrook 9-2857

The Orland Hills Civic Organization is sponsoring a dance to benefit the Youth Center. The dance will be held Saturday Jan. 31 in the North Palos fire house. Tickets may be purchased from Robert Anderson, Laguna Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Westlund entertained 13 couples at a New Year's Eve party in their home. Guests enjoyed a cheery fire in their lower level recreation room where steaming cups of Swedish glug were served.

Six couples from the Woods spent Dec. 30 and 31 at the Wagon Wheel resort in Rockton. They enjoyed swimming in the glass enclosed pool, bowling, dancing, sight-seeing on the premises, and for those who were interested there was a large ice skating rink of regulation size for hockey meets. Travel time to the resort from here was two hours 15 minutes via the newly opened toll road. The couples returned on New Year's day. The party was planned and reservations made in October to eliminate driving on New Year's Eve.

Ronald, two-month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mollo, died Dec. 26 in Ingalls Memorial hospital, after taking ill on Christmas Day. Funeral services were held in the Schmaedeke Funeral home Dec. 27. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

There was considerable excitement at the Rudolph Weiss home Dec. 29 when black smoke filled the rooms. The children were rushed out the house for safety and were gladly received into the Eckel home next door. The fire department of Orland Park was notified and came quickly to check the cause of the smoke.

Mrs. Weiss is grateful to her neighbors who offered their assistance: Mrs. Milton Westlund, Mrs. Frank Millette, Mrs. Robert Anderson and Mrs. Wilbur Eckel. The smoke was apparently caused by the electric failure which occurred in this section. The fan failed to work in the furnace and smoke which had accumulated there backed up into all the rooms. Fortunately, there was no serious damage, and Mrs. Weiss and the children were able to return home in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Eckel were hosts Christmas Day to relatives. They were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eckel, Chicago; Alan Eckel home from the University of Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. George Reid, Mokena, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Velder and children, LaGrange Park; Mr. and Mrs. John Wendling, Chicago and their daughter, Miss Patricia, home on vacation from her teaching position in Clarkston, Mich.; and Airman 2-C John Wendling Jr., on furlough from Edwards air force base in California.

Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy celebrated Christmas day with their son, Ensign William Murphy Jr., home on leave. Ensign Murphy left for the west coast the first of this month. He will board ship for his tour of duty.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Biedermann were pleasantly surprised a few days before Christmas when their son, Pvt. Wayne Biedermann arrived home on an unexpected furlough. His parents drove him back to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emmons and their five children hope to be in their new home next door to Chris Manos by the end of this month. The Emmons have three boys and two girls, the eldest daughter Nicki is a high school freshman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millette's Christmas dinner guests were her brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Kayer, their son and his fiancée of Chicago and Mrs. Millette Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Westlund's company enjoyed Christmas evening skating on the pond 'neath a full moon. The Robert Anderson's entertained both their families on Christmas Eve and Day. His grandmother, Mrs. Ruter of Custer Park, was an over night guest.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woodbury spent the holidays in Manchester, N. H. with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millette Jr. celebrated New Year's Eve with an ice skating party on the large lagoon.

In winter weather, says the Motor Club, always turn on your headlights early--especially when it's snowing or foggy. Snow might cause a pedestrian to become careless in looking both ways for traffic, and parking lights are difficult to see.

In cold weather your battery becomes less efficient, says the Motor Club. Lights, radio, heater, defrosters, and frequent stops and starts in slow traffic tend to weaken a battery. Have it checked once a week.

Public Hearing on Zoning Code is Scheduled for Monday Night

By CHLOE WHITE
Sycamore 8-9220

A public hearing on the proposed Zoning Ordinance will be held on Monday, Jan. 12, at the Model House at 8 p.m. Copies of the proposed ordinance are available at the home of the city clerk, Mrs. Virginia Bennis, 4730 West 181st Street.

Vehicle tags are still on sale at the home of the City Clerk. Anyone still without a tag may purchase one from 7 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday or Saturday from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

There will be a regular meeting of the city council on Monday, Jan. 12 at the Model House.

Ice Skating

Due to a request by members of the city council an area for public ice skating has been flooded. The area is the northeast corner of 187th and John in Unit IV. This has been done thru the efforts of Thomas Harmon and the fire department.

There will be a regular meeting of the Homeowner's Association in the Thomas Lane School on Tuesday, Jan. 13, at 7:30 p.m.

Election of representatives are still being held in Unit III.

Fire Department

The fire department, plagued by false alarms during this past vacation period, urges all parents to explain the seriousness of such actions. Many of the men work nights and to have their only time to sleep disturbed by pranks is thought less, not to mention that a serious situation could arise if an emergency should occur while the truck is out on a wild goose chase. A truck could also become involved in an accident with resultant loss of life answering a false alarm.

Teen Club

The new Teen club of Country Club Hills will elect and install new officers at the next regular meeting, Saturday, Jan. 17, in the Thomas Lane school at 7:30 p.m.

The club, which is undergoing a major reorganization, holds its meetings on the first and third Saturday evening of the month.

The reorganization, which is to give the club the same type of organization found in the majority of Teen clubs in the area, began with the appointment of a board of advisors, their time and energies to the success of the club are E. K. Those adults who are giving Landenberg, Dan Berdan, Dan Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. William Marquardsen. Mr. Berdan is to act as the adult advisor to the club. Each activity planned by the club must have the sanction of the advisor as well as the board of advisors.

A new constitution has been written and the main aims and purposes are: To promote a better understanding between teenagers and adults; To provide activities and entertainment for teenagers; To provide various and miscellaneous services to and/or for the community and to aid in combating and/or preventing juvenile delinquency.

The membership is to be composed of any or all teenagers residing in Country Club Hills and adjacent areas within the age limitation of 13 to 19 years of age.

Those members who are seeking office have had to circulate a petition for office. This petition required the signatures of three public spirited or civic leaders, four signatures of adult friends or neighbors and seven signatures of fellow teen members. Each candidate was ready to answer questions regarding aims, beliefs, capabilities etc. All petitions must be returned to Mr. Berdan by Saturday, Jan. 10.

The Midlothian Teen Club is to have their Installation of Officers and dance Saturday, Jan. 10 at the Midlothian public school at 7 p.m. All local Teen club members are invited to attend. Refreshments served.

United Christian Church
The worker's conference was held this Monday, Jan. 5, at the parsonage for all church school teachers. The topic was, "The Relation of Activity Materials to Teaching", and was led by Mrs. Wendell Pew. This group meets monthly on the first Monday.

The Junior Christian Fellowship begins meeting again after the holidays on Tuesday afternoon. Plans are to have them serve as a Junior choir for the first service as soon as possible.

The Christian Women's Fellowship meets as follows: Esther Group at the home of Mrs. Zenon Sykuta, 4441 W. 185th Place at 8:30 p.m.; Joanna Group on Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. William Marquardsen, 4720 182nd Place at 10 a.m.; and the Naomi Group on Jan. 14 at the home of Mrs. Ray Hoe-wine, 4501 W. 183rd Street at 8:30 p.m.

Choir practice resumes this Thursday, with the new music that has arrived and the fine spirit of the group that makes it fun.

Guest speaker this week in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Wendell Pew, will be Dr. William Weaver, Dr. Weaver is well known to many in Country Club Hills because of his fine presentations in the past for the pulpit. He is assistant to the dean of the Federated Theological Faculties at the University of Chicago, and is also currently serving a term as president of the Chicago Disciples Union, sponsoring group for the new church.

The Rev. Mr. Pew, currently near Detroit attending the advanced institute for Pastoral studies, will return to the community on Jan. 14.

FARM NEWS

For Cook County by
W. F. Whiteside
assistant farm adviser

The eighth annual winter agricultural short course will be held at the University of Illinois, College of Agriculture Feb. 2 to March 13. The short course is designed for young men and women who cannot attend college on a regular basis. It brings them up to date on new developments in agriculture and in the modern farm home. Students enrolled in the short course can also enjoy the cultural, social and educational events on the campus.

Anyone who is 18 years of age, or older, can enroll. The courses will be offered in agricultural marketing, farm management, gas engines and tractors, farm electrification, buildings, welding and farm machinery. Students can also get the latest information in the field of soils and crops, livestock feeding and dairying.

Some students will have a chance to get one hundred dollar scholarships. The Illinois Bankers Association encourages its member banks to award these scholarships, to selected students in their areas. The average expense for the six week short course should be around $200. This does not include travel, clothing or recreation. If you wish more information, write to the Short Course Supervisor, 104 Mumford Hall, College of Agriculture, Urbana, Ill.

A University of Illinois beef cattle researcher suggests self feeding protein supplement mixed with salt in the winter rations of beef cows. This facilitates feeding the small amounts of supplements that cows require.

Dairy cows at the University of Illinois produced equally as well on hybrid forage sorghum as on corn silage. However, they did not do so well on common sorghum silage in these tests.

A plot of ground growing corn continuously for 83 years at the famed University of Illinois Morrow Plots produced a yield of 139 bushels an acre in 1958. This soil has received a manure lime phosphate treatment since 1904 and extra nitrogen, phosphate and potash since 1953.

U. S. Consumers enjoy the world's safest and purest milk supplies. And, thanks to trained "tasters", American milk is also the world's best tasting milk. These tasters are employed in flavor dairies to detect off flavors not only in milk, but in many other dairy products.

Businessmen serving agriculture will have an excellent opportunity to hear about future trends and what they mean at the first Agricultural Industries Forum at the University of Illinois Jan. 27, 28.

Keep safety in mind during this Christmas season. Pay particular attention to your Christmas tree. It is wise to put the tree in a large bucket of sand and keep the sand wet. This helps keep the needles moist and lessens the chance of fire. Be sure that all bulbs are screwed far enough into the sockets to prevent the tinsel from touching the metal part of the socket. Fiber washers around the base of the bulb help prevent this hazard. When you leave the house, be sure the tree lights are off. Use fused circuits on the tree lights.

A safe Christmas should go a long way towards making it a merry Christmas and provide the opportunity to look forward to a pleasant new year. This is my wish for you.

Cong. Mason Invites Opinions and Views From People of His District

BY CONG. N. M. MASON

This letter starts the 22nd year of weekly reports to the people. In these reports Cong. Mason expresses his attitudes and convictions upon legislative problems that are to come before the congress. He does not expect his readers always to agree with him but believes they are entitled to know where he stands upon legislative matters.

When a congressman is elected he becomes the representative of all the people of his district -- regardless of party affiliation. For that reason, if he is sincere and conscientious, he wants to know what his people think about national problems.

Your congressman, therefore, invites -- yes, urges you -- to express your thoughts and wishes in connection with national problems, and he promises in return to be equally frank in expressing his ideas and convictions upon the same problems. Your congressman is YOUR man.

First: When the Social Security law was passed in 1934, it provided that all money collected in Social Security taxes should be dumped into the Federal treasury and that such cash could be used for the general expenditures of the government, placing government L.O.U.'s or bonds in the Social Security fund in lieu of the cash as a bookkeeping arrangement. That provision is still in the law.

Mrs. Gus Termunde is a co-leader of the New Lenox Bluebirds' 4-H club, who made and distributed cookies at the Guardian Angel and Lutheran Children's Homes in Joliet.

The executive board of the Homer School club entertained the teachers of 33-C at luncheon at the Cavallini Restaurant near Chicago, Tuesday.

Susanne Burcham has returned from a visit with her uncle and aunt at Decatur.

George and Edna Mae Burcham visited the Museum of Science and Industry Friday.

Mrs. Edna Mergler spent the past week with her son and family, the Ruland Merglers, in Chicago. An impressive installation service was held for the incoming officers of Homer church at the morning service last Sunday. These people, besides taking over the duties of office, automatically become members of the church executive board, known in Homer church as the prudential committee. A short business session will be held following the morning service, Jan. 11.

some $50 billion has been collected in Social Security taxes, but less than half that amount has been paid out in benefits. The balance -- all spent for general expenditures -- is a debt that has been placed upon the backs of future generations.

Third: Our Social Security program, since its inception, has been used for political purposes by both parties. In election years benefits have been increased to attract votes for the party in power, thereby making the Social Security fund actuarially unsound. Then in the off-election years the Social Security tax rates have been increased to try to get the fund back on an actuarially sound basis. (If that is not playing politics with the welfare of our retired old people, the writer does not know what is.)

Fourth: The Brookings Institute for Research -- one of the best and most respected institutions of its kind in the Nation -- says:

The present Social Security program is a plan whereby WE, the present generation, do the promising; YOU, the future generations, do the paying. . . . The present Social Security set-up should be abandoned entirely and a genuine pay-as-you-go system should be established in its place. . . . This would mean our present generation would care for its own old people and trust future generations to do likewise.

That program is exactly what the writer has been trying to establish. He is not against Social Security per se.

Watch Your Step

These long winter evenings are very nice indeed for those who are able to remain warm and snug indoors but for persons who must be out and about they can be quite hazardous.

This is particularly true for pedestrians especially those residing in suburbs where traffic is heavy and sidewalks are almost non-existent.

Some communities--Orland Park for an example--are requiring all subdividers to install sidewalks as well as streets, curbs and gutters and that is as it should be. It will give future protection. Sidewalks really are essential in protecting pedestrians from passing cars.

Occasionally one hears or reads of a motorist driving onto a sidewalk and maiming or killing helpless people. Such instances, however, are few and far between but not a day passes without persons being clipped by autos as they walk along the highway or some street.

Last week two motorists, at widely separated intervals, told us of almost bagging two walkers on Wolf road at Mokena. And the conditions that exist there, a dark street and no sidewalks, exist in all the towns in this and neighboring areas.

Most of the cloth used for clothing that is light in color is also of a texture better suited to summer than winter while our winter costumes run largely to blues, blacks, browns and dark grays.

Sometimes a glimpse of a white face gives the motorist warning enough so he can swerve aside but if the pedestrian is slogging along in a dark hat and dark clothes, and with his head hunched down, he blends in with the pavement and the darkness and too often is not seen until the last split second. Then it is too late.

On Second Thot

by GLENN F. LOGAN

There are numerous phrases and idioms in the English tongue designed to express or describe our material status. Take the one dealing with Riley.

For instance, just who Riley was, and what Riley did appear to be facts that have been lost somewhere along the corridors of time.

But apparently Riley must have made it, for when we hear of anyone living the life of Riley, we know right off that such a person is doing all right. He not only is eating high on the hog but doesn't have a worry to his name.

On the other hand, when we hear that so-and-so leads a dog's life we need not need any details to know that that poor devil is being constantly harassed and has a most miserable existence. Everybody knows that. Being a dog today is a cruel fate indeed. I know a number of dogs and they all tell me the same thing... they have too much work to do.

This work, plus the responsibility with which they are saddled creates so much tension and strain that they have a serious problem.

Most of them say that the solution lies in sleep and rest but between getting to bed late and getting up early few dogs are able to get in more than 12 to 14 hours of sleep out of 24.

One of the first duties a dog must perform is to get his folks awake. In households where there are infants this takes special timing. If the child customarily sounds off between 5 and 6 o'clock, a dog worth his salt will not get up then.

The cries of the child, the muttering of parents, lights popping on and footsteps between bedroom and nursery, and nursery and kitchen and nursery and bathroom may cause some dogs to open one eye and then drop back into instant slumber but one who knows his stuff will sleep

He becomes a statistic and the motorist becomes a defendant in a lawsuit.

Persons who walk streets or highways in the dark should play it safe and carry a lighted flashlight. Cities, villages and counties that adopt ordinances calculated to eliminate "jay walking" should include provisions making it mandatory for a person to carry a light while walking along streets or highways at night. Cyclists and motor vehicle operators are required to carry lights between sunset and sunrise so there is no reason why pedestrians should be exempt.

Undoubtedly quite a few lives would be spared if pedestrians carried lights. Motorists should also remember that when traveling streets and roads in common use as sidewalks, to proceed slowly and to dim their lights immediately they sight an approaching car.

A frequent excuse for an accident is that the driver involved was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. The other is that he couldn't see the person on the road until too late to swerve far enough to avoid it.

Remember that in walking at the side of a street or highway to walk against traffic. Bicycle riders apparently confuse themselves with pedestrians because most of them ride against traffic. This is wrong. The law requires cyclists to ride in the same direction with traffic.

The law also requires that bicycles be lighted at night but there are many on the roads that are not. Too many. Parents who permit this are guilty of criminal neglect. With traffic conditions the way they are today bicycles should not be used after dark. Those who do use them then are just asking for a bed in a hospital or a slab in a morgue. Both are expensive and should be averted as long as possible.

right thru all this commotion. Then when the adults have finally gotten back to sleep and everything is quiet, the up-to-the-minute dog awakens stretches and then pads to the bedroom. Sometimes he barks, sharp and clear; or he may thrust his cold nose against that part of a person's neck that has been covered and is therefore warm.

Either way he gets results. The human comes up with a whoosh! To his entreaties to go away the dog turns a deaf ear. It's his job to get the human up and he does. To really do a good job the next step is for the dog to go outdoors.

Some dogs scurry out and are back bouncing against the door in seconds, especially on cold mornings, but they are the selfish type, thinking only of their own comfort. The conscientious dog will not return immediately. He knows that the human he is responsible for is still not fully awake and will stumble back to bed to catch a few more winks.

So the dog waits until he figures the man is just about dozing off and then looses a series of ear splitting barks interspersed with lunges that threaten to tear the door off its hinges.

By this time the man is resigned to get up and stay up so when he opens the door the dog bustles in, goes to his favorite corner and after circling a few times to frighten away any snakes that may have gotten into the house before the man could get the door shut the first time, flops down and is immediately asleep.

He gets perhaps half an hour of shuteye and then breakfast smells draw him to the kitchen. A bowl of milk and a few tidbits give him sufficient energy to get back to his corner for another energy building snooze until it is time for him to speed the master on his way and say hellos to kids on their way to school.

It is about then that the dog's day's work really begins. It seems that the town is divided into many territories and a dog is assigned to each. And it is a law that a dog must inspect his district every day. Sometimes a dog enters into an agreement with another dog or other dogs. In such instances they consolidate their territories and make the rounds together.

A human doesn't realize all the work that such inspections entail, such a lot of checking. There is supposed to be a law that strange dogs, strange people, strange cars must have a permit before coming into a territory but so few of them do that it is very, very frustrating. Birds are great offenders too, which is why dogs have to chase them from lawns and eat the dry bread left out for them.

Checking one's territory is also quite hazardous. Dogs have little trouble with their own kind because dogs are great respecters of property rights and when one of them is in another's territory he usually trots along, looking neither to the right nor the left, and takes no smells or other liberties.

No, the danger lies in the wild animals that a dog may encounter. Humans may scoff at the idea of finding bear, wolf, leopards, tigers or even lions lurking behind a hedge or lilac bush but that just shows how much humans know about such things. The dogs believe they are there and that is all that is necessary.

Incidentally, dogs are born surveyors and can tell you to the inch where their lot lines run. And when they are within them they are despots.

Besides checking their territories dogs must also spend a part of each day hunting. There is a law that a dog must chase rabbits and squirrels, just as there is a law that makes it mandatory for a dog to chase a cat.

In the case of cats, however, a dog soon learns to preserve sufficient interval so if the cat suddenly stops he too can

ANTIBIOTICS

One of the most remarkable achievements in medical history began with the discovery of the sulfa drugs. Prior to the successful clinical use of this medicine in 1935, there was no specific, dependable therapy available for any type of infectious disease. The only exception was syphilis and even in this disease, the treatment program was so lengthy and frequently painful that it was difficult to convince many patients to complete the course of injections. The sulfa compounds provided the first means to combat the germs that cause such serious illnesses as pneumonia, meningitis and blood poisoning.

Since the appearance of the sulfa drugs, many newer and more effective antibiotics have been developed. The first and best known is penicillin which, amazingly enough, was discovered by sheer accident, thanks to the alertness of a British bacteriologist, Dr. Fleming.

He was engaged in a research project to study the behavior of the germ that causes "strep throat." In his laboratory he had several plates covered with growing colonies of these germs. One morning, Dr. Fleming noticed that the cover had been left off one of the plates by mistake and something had destroyed the germ growth in that plate. He was quite disappointed since he had gone to considerable trouble to develop this pure-bred colony of germs.

Just as he was about to throw the spoiled plate away in disgust, he paused to ask himself what had destroyed the germs. It took only a short time to stop or dash off in a new direction under the pretense that the cat has changed her course. Dogs aren't fools, you know, and a cat with her mad up is better to avoid than to encounter.

In addition to these chores dogs also play with kids and assist adult members of the family in various endeavors such as superintending the cutting of grass, clearing walks of snow, hanging up laundry and many other things.

It is no wonder that when night comes a dog is ready for bed and yet he must be ready to sound an alarm in the event of outside sounds. Sometimes his work mingles with his dreams and you can hear him give small yelps and see his legs churn frenziedly as he pursues an antelope or maybe a buffalo.

There is no question but that a dog's life is a hard one although there are times when one might wonder if perhaps the dog's name could be Riley.

Motorists should keep themselves as well as their cars conditioned for winter driving, says the Motor Club. Winter driving requires different driving techniques -- especially when streets and roads are slippery. Accelerate slowly when slippery conditions exist. On snow or ice, test the traction occasionally by lightly touching the brakes.

TWO WAYS TO FOREIGN AID

discover that a common mold from the air was the culprit and this mold produced a germ-killing chemical -- penicillin.

In the years that have followed, considerable knowledge has been gathered about the way antibiotics work. Germs are living organisms and need food. Antibiotics are chemicals that "look like food" to germs but they differ from germ food just enough to be poisonous to them. Fortunately the germs are unable to distinguish antibiotics from their regular food and they will "eat" the antibiotics with great appetite.

Once this information became available, laboratories throughout the world began to analyze chemicals that appear in nature and to invent new ones in hopes of finding other germ killers. From this mass search has come streptomycin (the first antibiotic to kill tuberculosis germs), aureomycin and literally dozens of others. Many antibiotics are needed today and probably always will be. There are several reasons for this continuing need for new antibiotics.

In the first place, there are different families of germs. The germs that cause tonsillitis, for example, do not behave the same way as do the germs that cause typhoid fever. Usually each antibiotic is strongly antagonistic to only certain types of germs. Moreover many people find themselves to be allergic to one or another of these drugs and so a selection must be available for them.

Finally, germs that are too strong to be immediately destroyed by a dose or two of a particular antibiotic will eventually become immune to it, if it is taken by the patient for too short a time to kill all the germs. Today doctors see more and more patients that used to be cured quickly by penicillin but now seem not to be affected. These are infections caused by germs that survived penicillin treatments in the past. For these, successful treatment will require one of the newer antibiotics.

School Board Sues Contractor Because of Leaks

(CNS)--A $10,000 judgement is sought in Superior court for water leaks in the walls of the Fry elementary school, Oak Lawn.

The suit, filed by trustees of School District No. 111, charged certain plumbing lines and fixtures were improperly installed during construction of the school in 1956.

"Grave and serious water leaks have developed within the walls" of the school, causing extensive damage and waste of water, the suit said. The school board's "repeated demands for correction" have

It named as defendants the Flossmoor Plumbing Co., Abbott Construction Co., general contractor, and William a cost of $204,979, including Sexton, doing business as $11,354 net for plumbing work.

Filipino War Prisoners of Japan May Register for Compensation

Philippine nationals who were prisoners of war in Japan may be eligible for compensation if they register officially with Red Cross by March 15, Bernice Keenan, Will county chapter executive secretary, said today.

American Red Cross will register these persons and turn over the claims to Philippine Red Cross for disposition.

Miss Keenan said that official forms for the registration will be ready within a few days at the chapter office, 155 Scott street, Joliet.

Applicants will be asked to give name, rank, service or serial number, date and place taken prisoner and place detained as prisoner of war. If possible, the applicant should show proof of identity.

Next of kin may apply if the prisoner of war is dead. Philippine nationals serving with the U. S. armed forces at the time of capture also are eligible to register.

The compensation is available under article 16 of the peace treaty with Japan. Funds will come from assets of the Japanese government and Japanese nationals on deposit in neutral countries. These funds have been transferred by Japan to the International committee of Red Cross at Geneva, Switzerland.

Bremen Beat

(Editor's note: This is one of a series of two stories about the swimming program at Bremen Community High School. Boys' swimming is treated here. Girls' swimming will be discussed in a future story.)

Resolved, that all boys at Bremen Community High School shall learn to swim proficiently.

This is the program for boys at Bremen, where all juniors and seniors and one section of sophomores are now enrolled in swimming in the new pool. Next year all those who are then juniors and sophomores will perfect their aquatic prowess until all will learn under this revolving method.

This is the plan outlined by Joseph Rusk, husky swim coach, who radiates confidence after ten years of competitive swimming, during which he managed a United Nations headquarters pool in Tokyo, life-guarded in numerous pools in suburban Chicago, and taught a number of children's and adult swimming classes at Eastern Illinois University at Macomb.

Wary landlubbers, who may have somewhere learned a fear of water, soon find that the program is thoroughly organized with entering students placed in skill groups ranging from one through six. Those in number six are unable, at first, to put their faces in the water.

In slow, careful graduations they are guided thru the basic flutter kick, in which they learn not to kick from the knee, but, instead, to swing the entire leg in rhythm. The flutter kick is the basis of a good crawl stroke, according to Rusk.

Next comes the arm stroke technique followed by an insight into the ins and outs of rhythmic breathing.

Is it so hard to learn to breathe? Under water, the instructor explained, a pressure of .444 pounds per cubic inch (at this point the reporter secretly wondered but refrained from asking who ever figured that one out) is exerted on the chest; and air has to be forced in and out when the subject is underwater.

How about fear of water (Hydrophobia, or whatever it's called)?

The swimming instructor, who holds a master of science degree and a water safety instruction certificate, explained that when he sees someone with fear, he works with that person individually and teaches him by use of the flutter board (holding up to 175 pounds) confidence in shallow water.

"I teach them to find their feet ... to stand in shallow water."

Asked about the sink-or-swim theory of merely pushing a non-swimmer in, advocated in some quarters for use on the other fellow, Rusk frowned. "That method may only develop fear."

In fact, if a subject starts floundering in the water, Rusk immediately tells him to put his head down and pull water to him.

If necessary, he swims in close to the boy and talks to him. Or he may deem it expedient to take the boy out of the pool and explain, all the time building up confidence to support the knowledge.

Patience is a primary virtue of a successful swimming instructor. Observation, too, is needed, for a boy hates to admit his fear of the water. Sometimes, also, a commanding tone is necessary when the student unduly dreads dunking his face in the water.

What is the value of swimming?

"Swimming uses every muscle in the body. It is a relaxing and healthful sport with wonderful surroundings of sun and air," the Bremen coach said with gusto. "It has excellent carry-over. People swim in their sixties."

Asked about the old, swash-buckling notion that the struggling, drowning person needs to be knocked out for his own good, Rusk declared that there are holds and break holds to use instead. He also remarked that the rescuer might well let himself and the would-be victim submerge, and the person will automatically let loose. (Courage, lad! Recommended for experienced lifeguards only!)

Boys' Club, birthday parties, and other affairs. The groups need only to pay the fees of life guards and maintenance. Lifeguards, besides Rusk, are Philip McBain and Judith Koerner, girls' swimming teacher. They are required to have lifesaving certificates with fifteen hours of work in lifesaving.

For sanitation the water is filtered with a complete turnover every three to five hours. The pool is vacuumed every week.

One final problem was raised ... that of how to grade a course in swimming. Rusk noted that the grades are determined on a basis of the six levels of ability.

In other words, if a student has the ability and yet is constantly and carelessly leaving his books in Davey Jones' locker, so to speak, his grade is not very desirable. However, those who develop their swimming ability and work hard will find rich reward.

The Motor Club advises that on these cold winter mornings let your car engine warm up before starting in motion. This good safety habit helps prevent stalling in traffic and also prolongs the life of your engine. But remember; if you keep your car in a garage, open all doors before starting up the engine. In a closed garage, the concentration of carbon monoxide from your exhaust can be deadly.

About 80% of all travel is done by private passenger car, with the average vehicle carrying three passengers and covering 1,400 miles in 12 days of travel.

Business and Finance

By MAURICE P. ANGLAND
Inflation and its likelihood are number one queries of the investor. News dispatches quoting the country's leading political figures and some business men, state that the purchasing power of the dollar will hold firm in 1959. Facts may be more hopeful than actual. Prices tend to rise faster in good business periods than in periods of recession. In 1958 there was a 2 1/2 per cent increase in price index.

There has been no serious proposal in Congress to repeal the Full Employment Act of 1946 which protects labor unions against pricing themselves out of a market by requiring the Federal Reserve to use its powers of money and credit to insure full employment.

Cost-of-living clauses in more and more labor contracts anchors prices at each new plateau. Practically, unions accept increases due to index increases, but fight decreases thru slight drops in price index.

A few economists and their political friends believe that "creeping inflation" is good for the country as a whole. Their point is that gradual cheapening of the dollar makes the debt load incidental to the war and spending since then, easier to bear. This is, however, simply a "capital levy" against those who own dollar obligations as investments and those who are not benefited by constantly rising prices thru wage increases. Only 25 per cent of the labor force are unionized.

An extreme example of "creeping inflation" to lighten debt load, is France. On the basis of commodity prices, French debt is now less on a per capita basis than it was at the beginning of World War I. The price for this was high. Its people would not buy the country's bonds and its currency was devalued. They tried price-controls with usual results - failure. It is believed that De Gaulle will bring sanity into their financial structure.

Recognition of the importance of the wage-price spiral is finally had in a recent book by Dr. Moulton, former head of Brookings Institute. Almost every student of economics during the past 30 years has used his books either as reference or text books. He points out that wage increases over the amount of increase in productivity per man, must simply be added directly to cost of that product. He believes that is the most important factor in price increases rather than the present whipping dog - congressional spending. This spending merely adds to the fire.

Regardless of the personal attitudes of leaders of the big mass unions, they are prisoners of their own power. They must continually demand and get increases in one form or another or lose their positions of power to less careful leaders who are also ambitious for that power.

The craft unions are the aristocrats of labor with longer history of organization and more studious top men. Mostly they recognize limitations. Great political power of labor

Tractor Firm Official Heads Red Cross Drive

Clayton W. Russell, Caterpillar Tractor company purchasing agent, will lead volunteer solicitors in the March fund drive of Will County chapter of American Red Cross.

George A. Shepley of Joliet, chapter chairman, announced Russell's appointment this week.

Russell said he will name chairmen soon for various divisions of the month long campaign.

Red Cross will seek funds to finance its program of aid to service men and their families, to veterans and their dependents and to the residents of the county as a whole.

"With the continuing up-trend in population," Russell said, "comes an increased need for Red Cross services of all kinds. Most of these services are the unspectacular help to a family in trouble for one reason or another. These tasks the public seldom reads about in the papers.

"Will county has had its share recently of the more dramatic work of Red Cross, such as the assistance given in the National hotel fire in Joliet and the 1957 flood which affected widespread parts of the county. For all of this, and for the regular training courses in home nursing, first aid and water safety and for the many other Red Cross programs, we will seek voluntary contributions in March," he said.

Queen Elizabeth I built up a collection of hundreds of pairs of richly embroidered and bejeweled gloves thru the custom of New Year's gifts.

leaders is somewhat new and their use of unions vast treasures in political activities is not likely to be stopped soon. Few political personages are going to dare the wrath of this power prior to having the mass of public back of them. Even laws against misuse of treasuries and power are questionable.

Few industrialists are going to dare fight union poked under these conditions with possibility of martyrdom for themselves and their firms. It seems to end up in who is to "bell the cat" while stocks will continue as a preferred investment medium.
